Swedish Phytogeographical Society

Scholarships

The Swedish Phytogeographical Society offers each year a number of research scholarships from the B. Lundman's Fund for Botanical Studies and from the B. Lundman's Fund for Anthropological Studies.

Extra call autumn 2019
This year the society decided to have an extra call for the B. Lundman's Fund for Botanical Studies and the B. Lundman's Fund for Anthropological Studies with deadline October 31.

For instructions of how to apply follow ordinary application instructions below

What do we fund

The Society promotes research projects in plant ecology and plant geography from the B. Lundman's Fund for Botanical Studies, and research projects in physical anthropology and for biographical work on Bertil Lundman's research and life from the B. Lundman's Fund for Anthropological Studies. Grants can be used to cover costs for travelling, buying equipment and for publishing results related to the project.

Who can apply

Scholarships are awarded to members of the Society, primarily to postgraduate students and students at Uppsala University.

How to apply

It is compulsory to use our form for application, which can be downloaded here. Application must not exceed 4 pages, excluding CV (maximum 2 pages) and a well motivated budget (1 page). A maximum of SEK 50,000 per application can be granted.

Applications on paper should be sent in four copies to the address below + an electronic copy in pdf format to svs@ebc.uu.se no later than 31 January each year.
The Swedish Phytogeographical Society
c/o Department of Ecology and Genetics, EBC
Norbyvägen 18D
75236 Uppsala

The Board of the Society decides on the granting of scholarships approximately one month after the deadline.

A progress report on the work and a report of how the grants have been disposed, including receipts, must be submitted the following year by 30 September. If reporting is not done, no further scholarships will be granted by the Society.

For inquiries about the application process, please contact the secretary at linus.soderquist@ebc.uu.se or svs@ebc.uu.se

Swedish Phytogeographical Society
svs@ebc.uu.se
Norbyvägen 18D
75236 Uppsala
Sweden